

NOTE: A condensed version of this article appeared in the business section of the Austin American Statesman in February of 2007.

Press Release for Immediate Publication

The American Guild of Court Videographer's and the National Court Reporter's Associations are proud to announce the acceptance of Mr. Mark S. Harris of the firm of Texas Legal Video Services, LLC as a member in two of the nation's largest legal video organizations of their kind. The AGCV only accepts professional videographers in its membership who are willing to go through an extensive certification process that qualifies them to serve the legal profession in all aspects of legal videography. The NCRA is the organization responsible for the nationwide certification of court reporters and is the sponsor of the Certified Legal Video Specialist (CLVS) program.

In affiliating with the AGCV and NCRA, Mr. Harris is now capable of meeting the needs of attorneys, court reporting firms, government or law enforcement agencies, banking institutions and contractors desiring legal video and audio work anywhere in the nation through a network of qualified forensic videographers. Mr. Harris has received certifications in all aspects of legal video from depositions to trial presentations.

Very few videographers in the nation are fully trained in all aspects of legal videography. The AGCV and NCRA training includes preparing its members to meet all of the stipulations of Rule 30 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Federal Rules of Evidence as well as each member's prospective State Rules of Civil Procedure. Members who have received certification are prepared to produce video depositions, day-in-the-life and settlement documentaries, videotaped scenes of crimes and incidents, video evidence of damages, mock trials, will execution ceremonies, construction surveys, video transcription and conversion and other forms of video documentation services. Mr. Harris is also a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE) and specializes in audio restoration and enhancement capabilities in addition to his video services.

The motto at Texas Legal Video Services is “Professional results on time, every time” and we congratulate Mr. Harris for “raising the bar” on his qualifications and capabilities in the production of video and audio documents for the legal profession. Texas Legal Video Services is located in Cedar Creek, Texas and can be reached at (512) 303-4239.